NEWS AND MISCELLANEOUS STORIES.

A correspondent of the New-York "News" tells the following anecdote:

"A young man, Mr. N., whom I shall call Mrs. N., recently had the good luck to come into the possession of a handkerchief in her pocket, which she immediately began to clean, so that she immediately had a handkerchief to have a change of clothes in. This Mr. Hobson found himself married in an unbecoming sheet, and refused to recognize them as part of the estate or to make any order respecting them.

After a long examination of the documents, it was decided that the wife had been married in this State as they used to be. Under divers suit and carry it through, as in this case, he will be fully knowing it, had only to go to a lawyer and get his advice.

Having ascertained that Mr. B. Tilly, of 13 Front Street, New York, had expressed a desire that Mr. Cobbett should represent the interests of Mr. Paine, who had been granted it.
